Dear Mrs. Furer

According to our telephone conversation this morning please find attached to this e-mail the statements you asked for.

(From January 2004 until June 2007).

As already mentioned this account is an individual account in the name of your husband, he has the possibility to cancel your access to the account at any time and he is the only one who can close-out that account.

You can only open up a new account in your name if you come over to Switzerland.

To solve this situation we need to be in possession of the Original Court documents or certified copies of it. If you provide us with copies the certification has to be done by the Court which has issued the Original documents.

Sincerely,

Halima Bakari
